Description

Accompanied by the nature conservation association Verwall-Klostertaler Bergwälder, we embark on a discovery tour in the European protected area Klostertaler Bergwälder. Together, we explore the sunny southern side of the protected area, hiking from Langen to Klösterle, and encounter valuable habitats such as alpine meadows and mixed beech forests. With a bit of luck, we might encounter rare and protected bird species, including various woodpecker species. After the hike, a cozy wood picnic awaits you with products from Klostertal farmers, at the Wäldletobelbrücke, where experiences and impressions will be shared.
